

A Dinner Shared with Sun Yet Sen Descendant

A fellow member Basilio Chen, ambassador to OSGL when we travelled to China, introduced us to the great-grandson of Dr. Sun Yet Sen. Over dinner we spoke about his upbringing in New York, and travels to Hawaii as a kid. He visited Hawaii in with his wife, Peggy, in February, and had dinner at Mandalay Restaurant.

Being the great-grandson on Dr. Sun Yet Sen, it is easy to trace his genealogy thru the Sun family. However, he recently wanted to trace his mother's roots, and found out that she is from Oo Syak Village. It is fascinating to now say that OSGL has ties to a such a prominent figure in Chinese history.

Dr. Sun Yet Sen Lei Ceremony

Local Chinese societies and organizations gathered together on Saturday, March 12th to commemorate Dr. Sun Yet Sen, who died on this date in 1925. He is known to be a Chinese revolutionary, first president and founding father of the Republic of China (present day Taiwan), and medical practitioner. He has local ties to Hawaii, as he graduated from Iolani School in 1882, and later went to Oahu College (currently known as Punahou School).

OSGL officers paid tribute to Dr. Sen by presenting a lei of honor to this majestic gentleman who made great changes in Chinese history.
